1. INTRODUCTION

The introduction of money is a substitute to a barter trade system which was a very important event in the history of finance. To the simple Finance is nothing but money needed to consummate economic and business, transactions and exchange processes for Economic development Osiegbu and Onorah (2011), Ezrim (2005). Exerted b ion of money removed most of the problems created by exchange by barter trade including the double coincidence of wants, lack of commodity, measure of value, difficult in strong value, problem associated with making deferred payment. These problems associated with barter system created the need for money, thus as economic welfare progressed; it became necessary to have a medium of exchange that would resolve the barter system problems.

A slight modification of the simple school is contained in the perception of finance not only as money but also as monetary assets Onuorah and Osiegbu, Ezirim (2005). Anyafo (1998) typified finance as

A unique and entertaining reading experience for your students

نهلة و ناهل
Nahla wa Nahil

"Nahla & Nahil" is the Arabic speaking world's first online literacy platform that both educates and entertains children between the ages of 4 and 11.

See why the platform is so special:

- Tailor made for kids: easy to navigate, colorful with entertaining characters.
- Unlimited access designed for the desktop and tablet.
- 500 leveled children's books.
- A wide range of age and level appropriate magazines, encyclopedias, videos and games to support exploration, learning and comprehension.

نهلة و ناهل
Nahla وNahil

- Audio books for listening and learning the right pronunciation.
- Our ‘word-click’ repeat feature, allows readers to simply click on a word to hear it again. Allowing your students to focus on the words they don’t know.
- Each title includes an online reading assessment quiz, word games and other entertaining exercises to help the teacher assess reading and comprehension levels.

All our books are leveled in accordance with the Arabi21 and Mubadarah leveling systems. These leveling systems were created by consortia of educational publishers, teachers, and academics interested in the development of teaching and learning the Arabic language in schools and classrooms
